$1 Million Airline Extortion Plot Is Alleged, Arrest GC Men at Store

By MARION BARTOSIAK

Press-Record Staff Writer

An alleged attempt to extort $1 million from Pan American Airways led to the arrest of two Granite City men late Friday evening at the Sav-Mart Store, 9500 Collinsville Road.

Taken into custody on the store parking lot by FBI agents were Francis Ray Meyers, 18, and Lawrence Ray Butts, 30, across-the-alley neighbors.

They were held in the Madison County Jail under $20,000 bonds until Saturday, when they were taken to Springfield, Ill., for arraignment before U. S. Magistrate William Griffin today.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation staff in Springfield field told the Press-Record that someone allegedly contacted the Pan American agent in St. Louis by telephone Friday and threatened the destruction of nine of the airline's jet aircraft if $1 million was not delivered to the Sav-Mart Store area.

Pan American is an international airline and has no scheduled flights into St. Louis. Butts resides at 1737 State St. and Meyers at 1728 Edison Ave. Both are married and Butts has two children, Madison County deputies said.

Meyers is unemployed. Butts serves in the U. S. Army and has been on a 30-day leave from his base in Germany.

A Pan American official in St. Louis, initially notified the FBI, saying a telephone call had been received, demanding that a million dollars in unmarked bills of small denomination be delivered to the store lot.

Neither Bryce Miller, Pan Am spokesman, or James T. Moreland, special agent in charge of the Springfield FBI office, would say whether the plot was taken to the store. Specific details of the capture also were withheld.

Miller commented that whoever was responsible should have been wise enough to know "they couldn't get away with something like this."

Because Pan American has no contact with St. Louis other than a ticket office on Olive Street, the extortion plot was described as "ludicrous."

Bombs were mentioned in the telephone threat, it was noted.

Collinsville police cooperated with the FBI. They reported they found an auto registered to Butts on the Sav-Mart lot; it had no license plates but a registration form was on the windshield. Chief Paul Cigliana said "quite a few" FBI agents worked out of his station.

Ben Frizzell, store manager, said FBI men entered his office and identified themselves prior to the arrests Friday evening.

HALLOWEEN IN APRIL? No, but horses, cats, bunnies, elephants, gorillas, and animals and owners of all types and descriptions marched through Granite City Saturday in the first "Pet Parade" and contest. The event was sponsored by the Quad-City Association for the Protection of Animals.

News Notes -- Gorbe Area Annexation Sought

Annexation of the Gorbe subdivision and Dream Villa No. 3 to the City of Granite City will be the subject of a meeting at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Park District Recreation Building, Franklin and Amos Avenues.

A preliminary discussion took place there Thursday night. Residents of Gorbe, Dream Villa and Wilshire Manor were present, and a later meeting may be scheduled for the Wilshire area.

About 35 persons attended, including Engineer Edward Jung, Assessor James Barton and Alderman Paul Schuler. It is hoped to have an attorney at Wednesday's session.

The discussion was arranged after some unincorporated area residents between townships were determined, it was noted.

New Madison County authority to equalize property assessments between townships was cited as a factor in the proposal.

An inquest into the fatal shooting of Dennis M. Holt, 22, of 1023 Altair Ave., Madison — one of two victims of an early morning shooting at Darling's 330 Club in Madison April 17 — will be held at the St. Louis City Coroner's office at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow.

Mr. Holt, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Holt, died in Firmin Desloge Hospital, St. Louis, three and a half hours after the shooting.

An inquest is to be scheduled this week in Granite City into the death of William Charles Winslow, 29, of 1223 Kennedy Drive, Madison, who also was killed in the shooting.

Autopsy results released today reported that Mr. Holt died of a gunshot wound to the brain. Mr. Winslow died of a gunshot wound to the chest, according to preliminary autopsy reports.

Edward Werner, deputy Madison County coroner, said today that an inquest into the Winslow death will be scheduled as soon as a full autopsy report is received.

Mr. Holt's mother, Mrs. Eugene Holt, said today

False Image Given; Some Bottomland is Superior to Upland

(Editorial on page 18)

A false and damaging image of the Quad-City area results from sweeping denunciations of "bottomland" characteristics, studies by an SIU-SW faculty member indicate.

Although their immediate target is a proposed 770-acre development east of Highway 111 and north of Interstate 270, some of those speaking out are painting an inaccurate picture in citing "serious environmental and other drawbacks west of the bluffs and near-perfection atop the bluffs."

Data assembled by Robert Koepke, associate professor in the Department of Earth Science, was made available to the Press-Record to shed new light on the future of the western third of Madison County.

Koepke takes no position on the proposed mobile home-apartment-golf course-commercial-industrial project which has aroused controversy. What he does say is that some of the critical comments apparently lack substantiation.

"Detailed soil studies have not been made by anyone. I hope they are made, so that development costs can be accurately estimated — aiding the public, government and developers in evaluating in advance whether or how an area should be utilized," Koepke commented.

While all sections of Madison County are capable of development under certain conditions, Koepke says, he recommends not only further soil analysis but also more study of surface water factors.

Conclusions about specific drainage problems, including those noted during this month's intense rains, are not accurate to the extent that they ignore whatever improvement steps would be carried out, he adds.

Koepke says he interprets the information he is assembling to present a positive, factual viewpoint.

His emphasis is on the need for more detailed analysis, and the belief that conclusions reached without such study are subject to challenge.

His staff has assembled new as well as old data and maps, applied information various categories to a large number of detailed maps, and then developed some of the visually so that patterns and factors became apparent.

The task is continuing, and his report is not yet complete.

They show disagreements with geographic areas outlined on both Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission and Army Corps of Engineers maps and studies.

Noting that he is not seeking to criticize such past studies, Koepke explained that the variances result from newer and more detailed approaches.

He does support his basic findings as accurate. An example of the disparity is that one land section adjacent to a drainage basin, also could be aided.

Large areas of the northern Quad-Cities would be ideal for expanded development of almost any kind, including industrial parks serving a wide variety of light industry.

New Development Findings

Findings by SIU-SW Associate Professor Robert Koepke include the following:

Below-the-bluffs stormwater drainage is being aggravated by rapid urbanization atop the bluffs. Of the developed area, most of it drains toward and down the bluffs rather than to the east.

To describe the American Bottoms, in any fashion, is inaccurate if an individual implies that one part of the bottomland is similar to all other parts of the bottomland. There are wide variations in soil, drainage and other aspects.

Assertions that the area below the bluffs is replete with environmental hazards and that the section above the bluffs is virtually perfect do not jibe with the facts. Both areas have good and bad points.

During prolonged rainfall, filling of drainage channels often results in St. Clair County area water backing up into Madison County.

What Doherty Slough area drainage is improved, it is likely that at little extra cost a considerable area to the north, in a related drainage basin, also could be aided.

Large areas of the northern Quad-Cities would be ideal for expanded development of almost any kind, including industrial parks serving a wide variety of light industry.

Beauty on Bluffs, Ugliness In Bottomland, Planner Says

"When you're flat, you're flat; when you're not, you're not." This parody of a currently popular song was viewed by some as the principal theme of Martin Braeske, a former planner who spoke here Thursday night in defense of the Madison County land use plan proposed in 1969 and not yet acted on by the county board.

Braeske described the flat bottomlands as involving a wide range of serious environmental hazards while picturing rolling upland as almost the epitome of all that is fine and good.

He gave no quarter, indicated no attractive neighborhoods here and cited nothing of esthetic value in the Quad-Cities.

Despite the dim view of bottomland and high praise of the bluff area, his presentation went largely unchallenged by Madison County Citizens' Environmental Council members and others in the audience.

About 50 were present at Niedringhaus United Methodist Church.

Although it was said repeatedly that there has been no "plot" or "conspiracy," it was conceded during the evening that "miffed" over the proposed plan being ignored by the county, Braeske conferred with officers of the Coalition for the Environment-St. Louis Region.

It was this which spawned correspondence in which a Housing and Urban Development Department official — asked for help by the Coalition in blocking a 770-acre development, replied by condemning all American Bottoms development.

Even after being challenged on the point, Braeske continued to lapse into a practice of referring to all of the bottomland as distasteful and identical.

During the weekend, Robert Koepke of the SIU-SW faculty, who was present Thursday night, disagreed with both conclusions and their sweeping nature. The American Bottoms are diverse and include many areas superior to other sections of Madison County, Koepke said.

Braeske narrated for photo slides of maps and aerial views of Madison and St. Clair Counties. Included were pictures which he said he understands were taken in the vicinity of the proposed 770-acre development.

He said studies leading up to completion of the 1969 county plan document were staged in 1965 and covered many aspects.

Proceed With Plans for More Student Housing

The Southern Illinois University Board of Trustees, meeting at Carbondale Friday, authorized SIU-SW to proceed with plans for additional student housing and formally ratified an application for a federal interest rate subsidy.

If the subsidy is granted by the U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, SIU-SW will not have to use any tuition fees to finance the proposed housing, university officials told the trustees.

Plans call for construction of 148 new units housing 1,000 students in the north end of the existing Tower Lake housing complex.

SIU-SW has received estimated cost figures on the proposed housing from several developers but, thus far, the board is not committed to a construction contract.

Plans for additional housing are in line with a study last fall which showed SIU-SW had to deny housing to 370 applicants. The trustees' policy authorizes on-campus housing not to exceed 20% of the full-time enrollment. Existing capacity is about 425% of enrollment.

Coke Shipment Leaves Local Port for Wales

The first of three shipments of form coke, shaped like small charcoal briquettes, was transferred from railroad cars to a barge Friday at the Tri-City Regional Port, enroute to South Wales where the coke will be used in a blast furnace this summer as a test.

If the new coke proves to be satisfactory, the test may be the basis for large shipments of the new material from FMC Corporation's form coke plant in Kemmerer, Wyo., to British Steel Corp. at South Wales.

Raymond C. Tower, FMC executive vice president, announced that the coke is produced from an otherwise non-cooking coal indigenous to the Intermountain area of the United States.

Reserves of high-coking coal in the U. S. and England are limited, but there are ample reserves of lower grade coals, many of which can be laid in the form coke process and converted to high quality coke.

Emissions Controlled The FMC form coke process has another advantage in that it is produced in a closed system in which all smoke and emissions are controlled to less than one-half pound per ton of coke.

The 1,100 ton shipment Friday, transferred by Bulk Service Corp. from railroad cars to barge, was the first of three such test shipments which will be handled at the Tri-City Port.

The second shipment will be transferred this weekend, port officials said.

A test sample for the test will weigh about 3,000 logs and will require about 80 full railroad cars to load the three barges.

The barges will be pushed to Louisiana where the coke will be transferred onto ships for the trip to South Wales.

They show disagreements with geographic areas outlined on both Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission and Army Corps of Engineers maps and studies.

Although it was said repeatedly that there has been no "plot" or "conspiracy," it was conceded during the evening that "miffed" over the proposed plan being ignored by the county, Braeske conferred with officers of the Coalition for the Environment-St. Louis Region.

$1½ Million Laclede Steel Quarter Profit

In a letter to stockholders, Paul B. Akin, president and treasurer of Laclede Steel Co., today reported a first-quarter 1972 profit of $1,567,000 or $7.60 per share.

He said 1971 net earnings for the first quarter have been restated to include the entire amount of last year's inventory accounting change, which was approved by the Internal Revenue Service on Nov. 22, 1971, to be made effective as of Jan. 1, 1971.

This accounting change increased net earnings for the first quarter of 1971 from the $11.00 per share previously reported to $11.12 per share. Akin reported that Dr. Ross M. Trump, a member of Laclede's board of directors since 1966, has indicated that — due to the pressure of other activities — he does not wish to be a candidate for re-election to the board at the annual meeting of stockholders on May 18, 1972. In his stead, Dr. Mather Pfeifferberger Jr., of Alton, has consented to be a nominee for election to Laclede's Board.

Toddler Takes Off Alone To Visit Dad in Hospital

A determined 3-year-old can accomplish all manner of things, if he really sets his mind to work, and seeing one's 'Daddy' on his birthday was the objective of one small youngster last week.

With the cooperation of the Granite City Police Department, Timothy Lee Ingram, 3 years, attained his goal. Although for a while it seemed doubtful as he started off alone from the vicinity of 25th Street and Delmar Avenue to visit his father, Frank Ingram, a patient at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Timothy, his mother, Glenda, and his 4-month-old sister, Kimberly Dawn, were visiting at grandmother's house Thursday. The boy had tried unsuccessfully to gain permission from his mother to visit "Daddy" in the hospital.

Mrs. Ingram had tried, without success, to explain that hospital rules forbid children visiting patients except under very unusual circumstances.

Even being allowed to talk to "Daddy" on the telephone was not enough and when Timothy's mother and grandmother were engaged in conversation, the youngster took off for the hospital.

A frantic call to the Granite City police station alerted Patrolman George Gallas who discovered the child walking in the 2200 block of Delmar Avenue.

"I am going to the hospital to see my Daddy," Timothy told the officer when questioned.

Patrolman Gallas drove the boy home, got permission from Mrs. Ingram to take Timothy to the hospital by squad car to see his father and delivered him to his "Daddy" for a short visit.

Meanwhile, Mr. Ingram, who said his son has "a very good sense of direction," had been anxiously watching out of the hospital windows.

"He was peeing back and forth from window to window," a hospital spokesman said. "I had a feeling that he believed Timothy was going to come walking right across Madison Avenue," she added.

One determined small boy said "happy birthday" to his father and Officer George Gallas gained "a friend for life," a hospital official commented.

The Ingram family resides on Ohio Avenue.

Gateway Council To Act on Area Highway Projects

Four major highway improvements in the Quad-City area amounting to 277 construction projects in this region that will be considered for approval by the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council Wednesday.

The overall highway improvement schedule includes projects that highway officials hope to begin within the next five years.

If approved by the Gateway Council, the projects will be submitted to the Federal Highway Administration which will determine if they meet recently expanded comprehensive planning requirements.

Quad-City projects include: Extension of Federal Aid Route 151 (The Great River Road) from Niedringhaus Avenue in Granite City to Venice, two miles of four-lane expressway.

Route 203 Project
Improvement of Route 203 from the northern city limits of Granite City to I-270 at Mitchell, widening to four lanes.

Extension of Maryville Road from Pontoon Road to Highway 162, construction of four-lane highway.

Construction of a viaduct on Main street at McKinley Bridge in Venice to span the railroad tracks as part of FA Route 151.

Meanwhile the procedure by regional agencies for obtaining grants for sewer construction was outlined in a meeting at Belleville Saturday by Warren Miller, manager of the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency's planning sections.

An application for a sewer grant must be processed by five state and federal organizations, Miller told the approximately 60 persons, most of them city and township officials, who attended the seminar at Augustine's Restaurant.

$13,812 Study Grant Awarded to Campus Here

Joyce Aschenbrenner, assistant professor of anthropology at Southern Illinois University-Southwestern, has been awarded a $13,812 federal grant to study the influences of family members on careers of black youth in the Edwardsville and East St. Louis areas.

Miss Aschenbrenner said the grant, from the U. S. Office of Education, will allow her to gather information for a descriptive study of careers and education among black families in several communities served by SIU-SW. The project will be used to judge the relative importance of different influences on the career choices and educational goals of youthful family members.

Taylor.

Miss Linda Bauman presided at the organ, playing the traditional wedding marches, and "The Bridge," a local guitar trio, also furnished musical selections, including "The Wedding Song" and "Our Father," prior to the arrival of the wedding party.

Each attendant carried a basket filled with blue carnations, white gold and purple mums, white daisies and baby breath.

Robert Whitehead was the best man, serving with Dwayne Teator, Dennis Hall, Joe and John Berkley and Robert Dickinson, groomsmen and ushers. Gary Harper, a nephew of the groom, was ringbearer.

SIU-SW Given $216,000 For TV Pilot Program

Southern Illinois University-Southwestern has received a $216,000 grant from the Illinois Division of Vocational and Technical Education to develop television pilot programs providing disadvantaged adults with information about careers and career training opportunities.

Robert Schultheis, chairman of the department of business education and director of the grant, said the pilots will be designed to stimulate disadvantaged adults in East St. Louis, Chicago, Johnson County and Pulaski County to apply for jobs or apply for training programs leading to jobs.

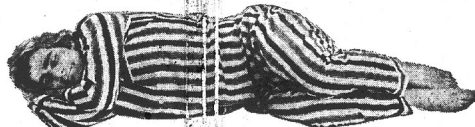

"We hope the grant will make it possible for the university to make some major contributions toward getting more disadvantaged into the labor market," Schultheis said. "The target populations of the project are at a competitive disadvantage in the labor market."

Passenger Injured

Patricia Wood, 22, of 2925 Buxton Ave., was injured when an auto in which she was riding, driven by David G. Nickell, 2622 Missouri Ave., was forced over by a passing vehicle and skidded into a utility pole last week at East 26th Street and Park Avenue. May 1 Deadline for Same Truck Numbers

Owners of trucks and other second division vehicles licensed on a fiscal year basis who wish to retain their present license numbers have a May 1 deadline to submit their applications. Secretary of State John W. Lewis pointed out that the State law sets April 30 as the reassignment deadline, but because the date falls on a Sunday this year, Secretary Lewis said reassignment applications received on Monday, May 1, will be honored. Pre-printed applications have been mailed to the owners of most of those vehicles and blank applications to be used for types of vehicles not included in the pre-print mailing have been distributed to various outlets throughout the state. The registration period is from July 1, 1972, through June 30, 1973. The new plates may not legally be displayed on the vehicles until June 1, the date on which over-the-counter sales will begin at two Secretary of State's office outlets in Springfield and three in Chicago. Banks do not sell second division vehicle plates.

CLEAN UP WEEK began Saturday and will end on "Keep America Beautiful Day," April 29 in the Quad-City area. On Saturday Girl Scouts, Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts distributed 4,000 anti-litter bags to all homes in Venice. Knocking on the door at 1215 Klein St. is Rita Schmidt, a member of Girl Scout Troop 456; Cub Scouts, from left, are Mark Schodroski and Eddie Patterson, both of Pack 107, and Ralph Turner of Pack 14, all Venice Scout units.

Clean-Up Week Is Observed in Venice

Clean-up Week is being observed in Venice this week in a program begun Saturday with citywide distribution of litter bags and handbills urging participation in beautification efforts. The program is the outgrowth of the beautification pilot program developed by the Women's Division of the Tri-Cities Chamber of Commerce. Fifty trees were planted along Broadway in Venice as part of the initial beautification drive. The litter bags and handbills were delivered by Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts to every residence in the city during the weekend. Trash bags furnished by the city also were distributed last week. Plans also have been made for extra pickups by the city street department of trash and debris. The committee in charge of the clean-up program announced that efforts will be directed toward the cleaning up of vacant lots, unoccupied houses and buildings.

Lightning Hits Two Madison Homes Friday

Lightning struck two houses in Madison within five minutes during a storm Friday afternoon.

Firemen were first called to the home of Madison patrolman William Papa, 1802 Fourth St., at 2:30 p.m., where lightning had broken through the roof at the rear of the house and destroyed a color television set. Papa and his family were home when the bolt struck. Damage to the building was estimated at $100.

While firemen were at Papa's home, John H. Moore, 616 West Third St., West Madison, reported lightning had struck his home and had set the timer in the kitchen stove on fire. Venice firemen answered the alarm until Madison firemen could arrive. Only minor damage was reported.

Police Crack-Down on McCambridge Turns

Madison police are conducting a campaign to halt illegal turns along McCambridge Avenue at Second Street and Edwardsville Road, Frank Dutko, chief of police, said today. Dutko said numerous accidents along McCambridge Avenue prompted the action and laws controlling northbound traffic on McCambridge are being strictly enforced. A left turn from the McCambridge Avenue viaduct onto Second Street is prohibited and only right turns are allowed for northbound motorists at McCambridge and Edwardsville Road.

He said drivers crossing the double yellow line at the turn of McCambridge and Edwardsville will be cited. Those attempting to defeat the right turn rule by driving through Monday's Mail Laundry or the Fina Service Station likewise will be prosecuted, Dutko said.

Rev. Covington Resigns At Emmanuel Baptist

The Rev. D. Covington, has submitted his resignation as pastor of the Emmanuel Baptist Church in Granite City to accept the pastorate of the Salem Baptist Church in Florissant, Mo.

His resignation was submitted Sunday to become effective May 21. The Rev. Covington came to the Emmanuel Church in February 1968 from the Eastview Baptist Church in Belleville.

The Rev. Covington said: "I hesitate to reminisce about accomplishments for fear that I will be too vividly reminded of all that we did not accomplish." While at Emmanuel, the Rev. Covington conducted his second evangelistic crusade on the island of Jamaica. He is scheduled to preach a series of meetings in Berlin, Germany, in October.

The church to which he is assigned is a historic church, having been organized in 1809 and claiming the distinction of being this nation's second oldest Baptist church west of the Mississippi River. In the past, it has been a rural church, but now the church is in the process of erecting a three-story educational unit to complement a modern auditorium. The Rev. Covington has pastored in Illinois since 1959, at pastorates in Belleville, Hecker, Scott Air Force Base, Trenton and Madison.

Baptist Women's Union Hear Missionary South Venice

More than 200 persons, representing missionary organizations for 18 Baptist churches in Madison County, attended the first annual banquet of the Women's Missionary Union of Madison County Baptist Association held last week at Grace Baptist Church, 2600 Edwards St.

The guest speaker was Mrs. Robert Stuckey, a native of Illinois, who is serving as a missionary with her family in Indonesia. Dressed in Indonesian attire, Mrs. Stuckey described the family's work in Medan, the capital city of Northern Sumatra.

At Medan, the Stuckeys initiated the first work in the Baptist faith to be accomplished in the city of 1½ million population. Churches, hospitals and schools have been built with mission offerings donated by Southern Baptist in this country.

The family has been on furlough and will return to Indonesia in June. Many trips needed during their four-year stay overseas were presented by Mrs. Stuckey by church members attending the dinner.

Decorations in the banquet room, furnished by the host church, reflected the missionary's colors of purple and yellow. Vases of yellow spring flowers festooned with purple ribbons were used as the table centerpieces.

Group singing was led by Mrs. Alta Mac Cockrell, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Mary Anderson, to open the dinner meeting. Prayer for the missionaries was offered by Mrs. W. J. Richardson of Mitchell.

Confidence Artists Take $196 from Youth

A man and a woman took $196 from Miss Dolores Dozier, 19, of 413 Weaver St., Madison, in a confidence game Friday.

Miss Dozier said a woman approached her at Third Street and Madison Avenue in Madison at 12:40 p.m. Friday and identified herself as a native of West India who was unfamiliar with banking in America.

The woman asked Miss Dozier if she would show her how to withdraw money from a bank. Miss Dozier said she banked at the Bank of St. Louis. A man walked by and the woman asked him if he would drive them to the St. Louis bank.

He agreed and at the bank Miss Dozier withdrew $25 to show the woman how. The woman asked how she could get all of her money and Miss Dozier withdrew the remaining $171.

The woman then said she would put Miss Dozier's money and her money together and took the $196 from Miss Dozier. She said she had to get her luggage from the bus station and would return. The man offered to give her a ride. They did not return to the bank.

State Has More Power to Order Property Reassessments to Equalize the Tax Load

By GOVERNOR
RICHARD B. OGILVIE

Everyone has heard the saying that "the power to tax is the power to destroy."

Conversely, the power to reduce taxes is also an immense power and fraught with opportunities to give special favors through the process of setting the value of property.

The taxation of an individual piece of property depends on two factors, the assessed valuation of that property and the tax rate.

The tax rate itself is only the sum of the tax requirements of all the taxing bodies in a given area divided by the total of assessed valuations.

Tax bills for individuals then are computed by multiplying the tax rate by the assessed value of each piece of property.

Thus the key to lowering or raising taxes for individuals is the assessment process.

Although tax assessment is basically a local function, complaints from overburdened homeowners have flooded into my office as local tax rates have increased — along with assessment figures.

I intend to make a searching review of the whole process of assessments, starting in Cook County, our largest, and extending to all counties with more than 200,000 population.

Backed by an opinion from Attorney General William Scott and the authority of the new constitution, our review will go as deep as is necessary to bring about needed reforms.

Specifically, the new constitution permits open and above-board classification of homes and farms on a lower basis than that of industrial and commercial property in counties of more than 200,000 population.

Throughout the state, it is apparent that property taxes are close to overwhelming homeowners and farmers, and are stifling development of our communities.

To head this special project, I have selected a tough and knowledgeable attorney, Richard Kissel, whose term as a fulltime member of the Pollution Control Board is expiring. He will serve as a special assistant to the director of the Department of Local Government Affairs, Robert J. Lehnhausen.

Kissel's first assignment is to establish the facts, and he will have whatever top-level assistance is necessary to accomplish his mission.

Lehnhausen has the power now to order a reassessment of any class of property in the large counties, and if necessary, we will use this power to equalize the tax burden on our citizens.

I have also proposed sorely needed property tax relief for some 160,000 elderly citizens on low fixed incomes who are reeling under heavy property taxes.

Because property taxes are literally so close to home, and because they are in no way related to the income or spending of the individual taxpayer, they seem to hurt the most.

There is convincing evidence that there are improper influences in the assessment process, where higher rates of public view — the burden can nearly be lifted from favored business taxpayers and shifted to homeowners.

It's a simple fact of mathematics that a reduction for any special class of taxpayers must be paid for by others.

The constitution requires fair and equitable assessments, and I intend to see to it that that mandate is translated into proper action.

There is much that state government can do to help local communities hold their own property taxes.

The two most effective steps we have taken have been to double financial aid to local schools and to share the state income tax and an extra portion of the state sales tax.

What can be accomplished under our state revenue-sharing program is reported vividly by the Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois, an independent watchdog agency.

In Peoria County, for example, the general fund county tax rate was cut as astounding 89%, from 8 cents per $100 of valuation to less than 1 cent.

The federation notes that this is due to the county's share of the state income tax and the extra quarter-cent from the state sales tax which it approved.

The battle over taxes is not yet won, but I am determined to win it.

Final Pre-Natal Tour Of Maternity Floor

The pre-natal class at St. Elizabeth Hospital will tour the new maternity floor this evening. This is likely to be the last opportunity for such a tour because the new maternity section will be occupied before the next session of classes, which will begin in the Fall.

Tonight will be the second of five classes—each meeting at 7:30 in the Wiseman Room of the hospital, with Sister Mary Jerome as class leader. Sister Jerome reported excellent attendance at the class which met April 17.

"It is not necessary to be attending these classes to make this special tour," she reports. "All prospective parents are invited."

About This Question:

"What will it cost to rebuild this Spring of 1972? Values on homes, apartments and commercial buildings have gone up greatly during the past five years. If your present insurance was adequate in 1967, it should be increased approximately 46% to cover replacement costs today, states the American Appraisal Co. Does the Luaders Agency advise a realistic increase of insurance limits at each renewal time?"

Josephine, wife of Napoleon Bonaparte, a French Empress, was born June 23, 1763 to Joseph Fesch, lieutenant of marines, and his wife, as the island of Noli.

She was beautiful, high-spirited and socially ambitious, and in 1779 she married Viscount Alexandre Beauharnais, by whom she had two daughters, Hortense and Marie.

While the French Revolution had cast suspicion on all people of noble birth and eventually Beauharnais was executed.

In 1792, Josephine met Napoleon, who had just been nominated to command the French Army in Italy; she married him in a civil ceremony in 1796, as he left for a military campaign in Italy. While he was away, Josephine became involved with a Parisian officer and when Napoleon returned, he threatened divorce but her fearful pleading dissuaded him.

Just before Napoleon was to become emperor she persuaded him to remarry her in a church ceremony, so that she could become Empress, but by 1809 the Emperor had tired of Josephine's frivolous ways and had their marriage voided. She lived the rest of her life quietly at her estate near Paris, where Napoleon often came to her for advice. Josephine died May 14, 1829.

King, emperor, dictators come and go—and once every thousand years or so there is a Helen, Cleopatra, or Josephine, but here at Hudson's we specialize in Wedding Plans, American-style, to bring your own Prince-Charming by and let's start at the beginning—let's discuss your rings. And from rings to invitations—to Sterling, China, and Crystal—and your own Gift Register. It's so much fun to do come in to Hudson Jewelers soon!

The Schermer Bulletin...

The "newest" item at Schermers is called, "The Original Near East Rice Pilaf mix". If you don't know what this is it is described as "completely with enriched par boiled long grain rice, browned noodles, chicken broth and seasonings". Try it... you'll like it. Something different.

One of our new customers just moved here from Arkansas. He has an expression which he refers to situations as "catfish". When we asked him to explain it, he said well, a certain catfish is mostly muck. We have noticed the past few weeks many stores which fit into this category of catfish. Lots of talk but no action. Schermers' believe in ACTION... Just read today's ad carefully. Notice a 3 lb. bucket of Hunter's Pork Brains for only 69c. Check a loaf of bread for 15c; a lb. of margarine for 15c; butter-milk for 39c per half gallon; BRYLING CHICKENS for 25c 1/2-lb., but why go on in this column...read for yourself.

That's why 11,000 orders every week are checked out at Schermers; quickly, accurately, courteously. And then each order is delivered to the car by a polite carry-out boy. We're busy; but we still have time to talk to you; listen to your suggestions; and continue to improve our store. WE HAVE ROOM FOR YOU. COME ON DOWN. WE THINK YOU'LL BE PLEASED.

Mrs. Mary Modica, chairman, used a western theme in the table decorations. She also presented each member with a cowboy mug as a favor.

Mrs. Kathy Dohal conducted the ceremony and presented awards to other members. The first "Pearl" award was given to Mrs. Connie Grupas and Mrs. Carol Grimm; a 15-year service award to Mrs. Gerry Menendez and the "Pallas Athene" award and fourth degree to Mrs. Joyce Albers.

A second degree award was given to Mrs. Dohal and first degree to Mrs. Modica.

Following the meeting, games were played and several prizes were awarded. Others attending were Miss Betty Bucatch and Mesdames Mary Firtos, Betty Coligan, Barbara Orris, Sue Sanasarian and Pat Lallch.

Mrs. Ann Burton, left, public relations chairman, displays first place citation awarded the Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club for the "outstanding scrapbook" entry in Illinois. The award was presented by Mrs. Hazel Harris of Peotone, center, state public relations officer, at the 51st annual BPW convention in Chicago. Mrs. Pauline Weir, local BPW president, holds award winning book.

The highest state award in one category and runner-up honors in a second were attained by the Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club at the 51st annual Illinois Federation of Business and Professional Women convention held during the weekend at the Marriott Hotel in Chicago.

A total of 1,126 delegates from business women's groups throughout the state witnessed the awards ceremonies Friday evening when the local club was honored with the first place citation for the top scrapbook entry in 1971-72.

The book, compiled by Mrs. Ann Burton, local BPW public relations chairman, had earlier won District 14 honors and was judged at the state level against 15 other winning district entries.

In the "Speak Out" competition, Mrs. Sylvia Wright of the Granite City BPW Club, also representing District 14, earned runner-up honors.

Mrs. Eleanor Rose Burke of Canton was elected and installed the new Illinois BPW president.

Keynote speaker at Saturday's banquet was Rabbi Morris M. Hersham, who leads the Jewish congregation in Joliet.

An outstanding orator, Rabbi Hersham has served as president of the regional Chamber of Commerce and was selected the "leading citizen" of Joliet by that community's residents.

Delegates attending from the local BPW club were Mrs. Pauline Weir, president, Mrs. Dolores Allen, Mrs. Wright, Miss Annellen Smith, Mrs. Rosemary Baseden, Mrs. Verna Lengyel, Mrs. Ruby Parker, Mrs. Becky Slate, Mrs. Lili Marzluft, Mrs. Ruth Milhauser, Mrs. Burton and Mrs. Genevieve Grady.

Comments on Bottomland Give Inaccurate, Unfair Picture of Western Madison County

For whatever reason, a direct assault is being waged on the Quad-City area's image and future. In pointing this out, it has been necessary to discuss a 770-acre project which Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk and his associates have proposed for the area between Interstate 270 and Route 11. The project itself may or may not be worthy of approval. In aiming at this target, some opponents of development have not limited themselves to a "rifle" approach but are using a "shotgun" barrage against the entire bottomland, as if the American Bottoms is uniform and as if it is generally undesirable, neither of which happens to be true.

Here is an example of what is being said: An Edwardsville newspaper on April 17 published a cartoon of a four-looking developer, seated in a water-filled office having a sign on the wall: "American Bottoms Mobile Homes for sale; float traps included." He is saying into a telephone, "Sure, we can show you a mobile home. Our ferry leaves promptly at 9. A fish swimming near the desk says, 'The water trap on the golf course is not to be believed.'"

Because there is a levee around the Sasyk tract and because drainage would be installed, the developer may consider the cartoon to be unfair. But aside from the question of fairness, it does at least focus on the project, except for the American Bottoms title. If the paper had stopped there, it might have been able to argue that it was merely expressing an opinion on a public issue. But it then replaced the rifle with a shotgun in an editorial Friday: "...Developing the Bottoms just does not make good planning sense. The very fact that there are so many problems to overcome means development of the Bottoms will be more than normally expensive. That means either high-priced housing or housing in which corners have been cut, and we don't need more of either. "Planners say the Bottoms should be left as agricultural land and that residential development should take place east of the bluffs, where sites are both more attractive and easier to develop. So far, it looks as though the planners have the weight of the community on their side. It must be kept in mind that the American Bottoms in Madison County consist of the entire area west of the bluffs. So, when an Edwardsville observer urges leaving the Bottoms undeveloped and favors residential development 'east of the bluffs'...

Winter Wonderland

By BILL WINTER
Editor, Press-Record
A folder giving flight information on Air Illinois travel between Chicago, Murphysboro, Springfield, Jacksonville and Cape Girardeau. A "take a day off from the world" advertisement for a Missouri resort. A 1973 calendar from a St. Louis financial institution. A set of seven blank "thank you" notes and envelopes from a Taylorville printing company. A wood-and-lead pencil from the Central Illinois Public Service Co. Another pencil from the DeMoulin Brothers of Greenville. A can opener from a Carbondale automobile agency. A "king of bees" convention survival kit containing instant seltzer, a wild cherry candy drop, a "four-leaf" bandage, two head-ache tablets, two pills "for the tummy" and a "do not disturb" sign designed to "wear on lapel, morning after." A pamphlet extolling the fun and good health deriving from bicycling. A note pad from Burgess Celco of Freeport. Another from a Missouri publication. A mini-sized roll of transparent adhesive tape.

Bringing Home the Baking Powder

"Working for a newspaper must be a lot of fun. You get to meet celebrities, and everyone's always giving you free tickets and books and merchandise." It's true that in some instances news men and women do get a "front row seat" from which to observe events and people. But the era of large-scale largess to journalists, if it ever existed, is not prevalent now, nor to our knowledge. In fact, most media enterprises and organizations take special pains to avoid any contact with reporters, any bowing to the blandishments of a grateful reader or newsmaker. This having been said, we'll note that we did bring home a bundle from a news-type gathering held in Carbondale this month. Not exactly a bundle either. What it was, well—it was a filled shopping bag. The plastic bag, printed in bright colors, had a map of Southern and Southwestern Illinois on one side (but omitted the Quad-Cities as if they didn't even exist). On the other side was a bit of propaganda about the DuQuoin State Fair, complete with a trailer, vocal group, trotting horse, racing car and fair building. Below were the following, listed in no particular order: A Payday salted nut roll. A Dille Mills Co. yardstick.

where sites are both more attractive and easier to develop," he is challenging a lot more than the Sasyk proposal. He is directing body-blows at a fine community of 75,000 people which doesn't deserve such an attack.

We hope that such efforts cease. Madison County has its share of problems, and their solution will require unselfish cooperation by all geographic areas, not slurs and feuds. Quad-Cityans stung by the scope of the assault on bottomland may be tempted to retaliate by citing facts such as those noted elsewhere in this issue—that the present rapid urbanization in the vicinity of Edwardsville, Collinsville, Glen Carbon and Maryville poses such problems as a big increase in bluff runoff on farmers and other residents bordering the bluffs.

We do not jealously suggest a halt in such upland urbanization; we hope it continues, and with increased safeguards against unintentionally dumping added drainage water onto the area below. We certainly are not blind to the attractive neighborhoods which can be found atop the bluffs.

But why tar the entire bottomland area with a "bad for development" label, when some areas of it in some ways are superior to upland areas?

There are outstandingly beautiful neighborhoods in the Quad-Cities and American Bottoms. There are places here where soil quality and drainage factors are close to ideal. If this community is going to be "picked on," if people are going to try to give the bottomland such a "black eye" that the task of achieving economic, environmental, governmental, cultural and employment goals becomes infinitely more difficult, the Quad-City area will have to look to whatever legal and other steps can be taken to defend its right to exist, its right to a future.

Program for Installing Sanitary Sewers in Local Townships Due for Gateway Approval

Favorable action is expected to be taken Wednesday by the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council board on the February 1972 Interim Water Quality Management Plan under which the four local townships are to install sanitary sewerage systems. Approval was granted previously for upgrading the Granite City sewage treatment plant. The two projects are separate but the four-township plan recommended by the Southern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission calls for the new township sanitary sewers to be connected to the Granite City treatment plant.

This connection makes sense for several reasons, including: 1. The city treatment plant has a capacity much larger than the present sewage volume. It can accept the flow from the nearby area with ease.

2. Both the city's upgrading and the townships' sewer installation depend heavily on state-federal financial participation. To qualify for such funds, the city treatment plant must be regional in nature, not restricted to the city's territorial limits.

3. Joint use of a single treatment facility is the most economical way for both the city and the townships. The city will benefit from usage fees paid by the township residents, who will benefit from not having to build their own treatment plant or having to connect with East St. Louis.

In this day and age, the combination of the most advanced and effective design and considerable financial savings—amounting to several million dollars—is too good to pass up.

City Isolated in Slow Time Zone

APRIL 24, 1947
A storm of protest has developed because the City Council voted 10-4 to isolate Granite City's 30,000 people in a time zone different from all the rest of the bi-state metropolitan area. Clocks here are to remain unchanged April 28 when the sun rounding area advances timepieces one hour to conform with daylight saving time. An alderman remarked that the current telephone strike may be a "blessing in disguise" judging from the complaints made directly to him, he thinks his telephone would have been ringing constantly. He voted against daylight time.

Any Loophole in Campaign Finance Disclosure Law?

Copley News Service
Former President Johnson once observed that there was "more loophole than law" in the Federal Corrupt Practices Act of 1925.

It sought to keep political campaign financing out of the open and therefore immune to the influence of secret donors. The new Federal Election Campaign Act of 1971, which now replaces it, is offered as a reform that is more law than loophole.

The public has a right to be skeptical until the new restraints on campaign contributions and spending are put to a test. Loopholes are defined as openings for abuses which evade detection while laws are being written. They turn up later.

Both the case of election laws, people eager to see a certain candidate win are drawn to potential loopholes like moths to a flame.

A succession of Congresses lived with the obviously inadequate 1925 Act for nearly a half century rather than tamper with a system that served the interests of candidates at election time.

In finally tackling a reform job that was long overdue, Congress last year was responding to a need to defend its own integrity as well as that of the federal government as a whole.

The public conscience is impatient with the campaign spending spree that makes our elections a shameful waste of money—and create suspicion of the motives of generous campaign contributors.

New requirements for periodic disclosure before election day of the source of all contributions exceeding $100 for congressional and presidential campaigns promise to eliminate the possibility of "kingmakers" in the electoral process.

This was a project of the American Colonization Society, N. J., in December, 1816, and transporting 6,000 free Negroes between 1821 and 1867, assisted financially and otherwise by the U. S. government.

In 1824 the name "Liberia" was adopted for the territory signifying the liberty of the residents, and the chief settlement and capital was named "Monrovia," honoring James Monroe, then President of the United States.

Great Britain was the first to extend diplomatic recognition to the new nation in 1848, and others followed, including the United States in 1862, under President Lincoln, and U.S.-Liberia relations have remained cordial.

State Status--
New Senate Vote
Procedure Sought

By RAY SERATTI
Copley News Service

Springfield — The Illinois State Senate could be going to the electronic age or computer age this session.

Sen. Jack T. Kniepfer, R-Elmhurst, has tossed into the legislative grist mill a bill seeking an appropriation of $125,000 to be used for installation of electronic voting devices in that chamber.

Kneuper is hopeful that the bill will pass the General Assembly and the machinery will be installed.

Presently, the House has automatic voting machines along with a tally or vote board which indicates how many votes a certain piece of legislation has as it nears passage or goes toward defeat. The huge board attracts a lot of attention when the House is in session and voting on legislation.

The huge board—there is one on each side of the House—lists all of the House members by name.

When a member votes "yes" on a particular piece of legislation, he pulls his switch and a green light flashes on the board. If the member decides to vote "no," then a red light comes on beside his or her name. A member may also choose not to vote on a particular bill.

When House Speaker W. Robert Blair, R-Park Forest, asks the members to vote, he then instructs the House Clerk, Fredrick Selcke of Petersburg, to take the record.

Switch flips a switch and a computer type printout comes from a machine, wired to the board. On this printout are shown every member and how he or she voted.

When the House installed this equipment some years ago it was felt it was necessary because it was a long involved process to call 177 names on a bill. It certainly does save time.

However, in the Senate, which also has a member vote board, it has been the practice to call the members on an individual basis. But there are only 59 members and it does go a great deal faster.

Whether or not this will be the case for change in the Senate still remains to be seen. The one big thing that might help bring about the change is that the General Assembly now meets on an annual basis.

In an effort to speed up the process, the electronic voting device might be the thing.

Litter Control Act Proposed in General Assembly

By RAY SERATI
Copley News Service

Springfield—Illinois could get a litter control act if the General Assembly decides to approve the legislation.

The bill has been tossed into the House hopper by Rep. Charles J. Fleck Jr., R-Chicago.

The proposed legislation seeks to control the throwing of litter from automobiles and boats.

The legislation also seeks to control the accumulation of litter on private property. It also cumulation on property in such a manner as to constitute a public nuisance or in such a manner that the litter may be blown or otherwise carried by the natural elements on to the property of another person.

Fleck's proposed legislation also would prohibit abandoning of motor vehicles on any highway in the state.

The bill would be levied against persons who are found to be circumventing the law.

Litter Receptacles

The secretary of transportation and the director of conservation are to prescribe the type and types of litter receptacles to be placed on property under the jurisdiction of the two departments.

The bill also seeks to place questions on the Litter Control Act on the state drivers license examination. It also would allow a conviction of throwing litter on the highway to be considered as moving violation subject to discretionary license suspension.

Fleck's bill would allow the Pollution Control Board to adopt a state ecology symbol for use in promoting the purposes of the proposed law and increasing public awareness of environmental protection activities.

The bill will be assigned to a committee for public hearings. If it is approved by the committee, the measure is then sent to the House floor for action. If approved there it is then sent to the Senate, where it goes through the same process. If passed in the Senate, the bill then goes to the Governor for signature into law or veto.

Emergency School Aid Bill to be Introduced

By JOANNE LONG
Copley News Service

Springfield—An "emergency school aid bill" to rescue districts in desperate financial straits will be among the measures introduced in the Illinois General Assembly at the request of the state education office, according to a spokesman for the office.

The bill would "reappropriate" $25 million appropriated but not used last year for the Common School Fund, according to Dan Eslick, governmental relations director for the office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction (OSPI).

Eslick said the $25 million was in excess of the amount used in 1972 because of differing estimates, from OSPI and from the Bureau of the Budget, of the amounts needed to meet the requirements of the state aid formula and the supplemental claims filed by local school districts.

The bill would be a temporary measure expiring on Dec. 31 this year and would bail out the districts that would close their doors before the end of the current school year without such emergency aid.

Operate 180 Days

The emergency aid bill will allow all school districts in the state to operate the 180 days required by the school code.

Eslick said.

He said a panel with representatives from the governor, the state auditor and treasurer and the superintendent of public instruction would screen requests for emergency aid.

Among the requirements, a district must have reached its maximum borrowing power with tax anticipation warrants; it must have asked the voters to approve an increase in its tax rate; it must have made cutbacks in programs during the current school year; or it must have shortened its school year. The district will have to meet three of these requirements.

State School Supt. Michael Bakalis has been buying about the governor's budget recommendations on an increase for state aid this year—that it is not enough, Bakalis has called for a total increase of $207 million.

lion in state aid to schools this year, while the governor has recommended a $91 million increase, of which Bakalis says only $40 million will be distributed to the schools for day-to-day operations.

He contends this doesn't square with the governor's contention that education is his number one priority.

Intensity Priorities

To raise the amount needed for the schools to what the state education office recommends, said Eslick, the Bureau of the Budget should follow the example of the Board of Higher Education in identifying priorities and eliminating low priority items, then marking the money for more important uses.

"If indeed education is the number one priority we ought to see some shifts," Eslick said.

He said his office would again this year go for a state aid formula with a compensatory factor for districts with large numbers of "poverty-level" students. The bid for substituting the compensatory factor for the high density (large population) factor failed in the General Assembly last year.

This year, said Eslick, the measure OSPI backs will offer the districts a choice between aid based on the density factor and the compensatory factor, whichever provides the most money.

He said a complete version of the bill would be out within a week.

Pay-As-You-Go Plan Adopted at McKendree

McKendree College at Lebanon is inaugurating a new pay-as-you-go monthly pay plan to cover all college costs.

"It's part of McKendree College's over-all effort to make it as easy as we possibly can for everyone who is qualified to be able to attend college," Fred Robinson, assistant business manager, explained.

Students or their parents will be able to make monthly payments of one tenth of the total fees each month for over a 10-month period. The only cost is a $20 one-time service fee paid at the time the student or his parents sign up.

The payments can cover all or any college-administered cost. This can include tuition, room and board, activities fees and books. Then if the student receives a state scholarship or has saved to pay for part of the cost, the total amount included in the monthly payment plan can be reduced to the necessary level.

State ID Cards May Be Issued For Resident Use

Legislation providing for issuance of an Illinois identification card by the secretary of state for any resident of the state was introduced last week in the Illinois House by Rep. John Merlo of Chicago.

Secretary of State John W. Lewis said he supports the proposal, adding that it "fills a long-standing need, especially for persons not qualified to hold drivers licenses, to have a valid and legal proof of identification."

Among those who would benefit most, he said, are the young, the elderly, the physically handicapped, minority groups and persons with English language difficulties.

Merlo said the proposal would help to eliminate a black market in illegal drivers licenses and other illegal identification documents, and thereby protect shopkeepers and cashiers who deal with the public. Such illegal documents, he said, are sold for $3 to $10.

"Existing today, more than ever in our lifetime, is the vicious problem of identification," Merlo said. "Currently, drivers license is the accepted identification, and as a result people who do not drive experience frustration and discrimination in cashing checks, establishing credit and other situations where identification is required. At present, they must either go without identification or use illegal means."

The measure calls for the Deaths totaled 157, down 192, and there were 209 marriages, up seven.

'Cinco de Mayo' Fiesta May 13 at Venice Legion

The "Cinco de Mayo" fiesta, sponsored by the Granite City Mexican Honorary Commission, will take place Saturday evening, May 13 at Venice-Madison American Legion Hall, 701 Broadway, Venice. The public is invited.

Mrs. Elva Ortiz will direct the annual variety program which spotlights the talents of area youth performing traditional songs and dances of "old" Mexico. Authentic costumes and musical instruments are used, adding to the colorful affair.

Dancing to the music of a Latin-American orchestra follows the stage presentation each year and authentic Mexican food dishes are made available to patrons.

The "Cinco de Mayo" fiesta commemorates the 110th anniversary of the "Battle of Puebla" fought in 1862, when the Mexican freedom fighters achieved victory in their lengthy struggle against oppression.

At a meeting of the Mexican Honorary Commission last week, Mrs. Antonia Lopez, costume chairman, reviewed plans for the fiesta. Details concerning food items were presented by Mrs. Carmen Arriola, kitchen chairman.

Fiesta tickets now are available from commission members, costing $2 each. Those purchased at the door will cost $2.50 per person, Steve Ortiz, commission president, said.

Children's tickets are $1.50 each. Mrs. Jean Mancinas, assisted by Mrs. Victoria Barton, served a ham and beans dinner to 63 members attending last week's planning session. Poster contest winners also were announced and honored, Ortiz said.

cent to Highway 111 and south of Interstate 270 appears to have ideal development qualities, contrary to published statements.

Whether parts of the area northeast of 270-111 could be developed for drainage north to the Hartford Canal remains to be determined, in his opinion, to do so might require not only a deepened outlet to the Hartford Canal but also a pumping at the canal edge. The natural drainage flow is to the south, he said.

In the Quad-City area, Koeke has identified five sub-regions.

developed," he criticized the American Bottoms as requiring expensive drainage, which he estimated as $100 million, a half-billion dollars $300 million at different times during his address.

Braeske voiced praise for Edwardsville and Collinsville as residential areas, saying the latter city is "ten minutes from St. Louis." Showing a picture of an Edwardsville home, he said, "They don't build homes like that any more."

He said the Quad-Cities is unattractive as a place to live because of the presence of industry and added, "You wouldn't build an expensive subdivision here." He described industry as "noxious" and referred to "sloughs and bays."

He said principal drawbacks in other areas include imperious soil in the Godfrey area and subsiding of ground due to mine excavations underneath some upland areas.

A series of questions by Henry Bienencki, Citizens Environmental Council chairman, sought to make a series of points, including the belief that concern over the tax base supporting government can be overemphasized.

Another point was that a county plan is amendable and flexible. Noting that the proposed county development dates back to 1968, Braeske said it is about due for revision and should be considered for updating periodically, perhaps annually.

Love was later brought out that the degree of flexibility is limited in federal or regional officials' interpretation provisions of a plan literally and permit no change.

A letter read to an Environmental Council business session prior to the talk by Braeske noted that Chairman Bienencki had written March 28 and April 1972 letters to the Illinois Development regional office in Chicago.

In an April 14 reply to Bienencki, a staff member, Martin Rogan, representing Director John L. Wanger, agreed with the citizen group's suggestion that a HUD official visit the Madison County Board if requested, and if other agencies also are invited.

The HUD position can only be understood in conjunction with technical information on the American Bottoms as developed by the Illinois Geological Survey, Soil Conservation Service and others, and with development plans as developed by the East-West Gateway Council and SNAAPC.

Rogan said, "The federal government is often asked to correct a flooding hazard on land that should never have been developed if proper planning had been accomplished and implemented."

In this particular case, there is the potential for altogether preventing undesirable and uneconomical growth that would eventually become a financial burden on local governments and possibly on the federal government.

During the talk by Braeske, comments by members of the audience stressed that there is little Missouri involvement in efforts to curb Illinois development.

Area Animal Experts At APA Public Clinic

A public clinic and seminar conducted by experts on different aspects of animal care will take place from 5:30 p.m. until dark Wednesday on the black-topped parking area near the A&P Grocery Store on Fehling Road in American Village Shopping Center.

The seminar, sponsored by the Association for the Protection of Animals, is another highlight of "Animal Protection Week." The program is designed to interest and encourage area residents to improve methods of caring for pets and wildlife.

Launching the week-long observance Saturday was a "Pet Parade and Contest" held in Granite City. More than 100 youthful marchers, walked the parade route and over 450 pets were entered in the judging event at Wilson Park. Mrs. Judith Johnson, APA president, said.

Champion, Is Rabbit. Grand champion among the entries was a 15-pound white rabbit — "Bunnykins," owned by David Pulliam, 10, 1011 E. The rabbit, which has complete freedom of the Pulliam household, is trained to use a litter box, and lives on compatible terms with a dog and cats.

Second place winner was Robert Mize, owner of a Spitz puppy.

At Wednesday's clinic, two members of the Missouri Humane Society's board of directors will show a box constrictor and several smaller reptiles. Mrs. Johnson said. The SIU cougar mascot, "Chimega," will be present with its handlers, and a bobcat also will be displayed.

Don Hastings of the Illinois Department of Conservation will discuss why wild animals do not make good pets and persons knowledgeable on the care of mice, gerbils, hamsters, guinea pigs, puppies and kittens will advise on their proper care.

Also spotlighted will be a member of St. Bernard dogs and representatives of the Prairie Riders Club with their horses.

The program will be presented by representatives of the Illinois Department of Conservation, the High School APA Club will serve as guides and hosts.

Becker on State Safety, Health Advisory Panel

nounced today the appointment of 14 of the 15 members of the newly created Occupational Safety and Health Advisory Committee for Illinois, including George Becker of Granite City.

Of the members, whose terms are for three years, five are representatives of labor, five of management and five are public members from the field of safety and health. They will advise the Illinois Industrial Commission on occupational safety and health standards.

Gov. Ogilvie met with them briefly in his Chicago office at 11 a.m. today. In the afternoon, the committee was to hold its first meeting in the commission's offices in the State of Illinois Building.

The Industrial Commission, whose chairman is Alexander P. White, currently is reviewing Illinois safety and health standards to meet federal requirements set by the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970.

State Plan in July

The state plan is to be submitted to the U. S. Secretary of Labor in July.

Ogilvie commented:

"Illinois is recognized as one of the leading states in occupational safety and health. We already have adopted the latest federal standards as Illinois standards."

"The outstanding citizens serving on this committee are donating their time and effort to reviewing thoroughly all federal and state standards and to advise in the development of a comprehensive state program."

"It is this kind of public spirit that will enable Illinois to become the leading state in the nation in occupational safety and health."

After the plan is approved by the federal Occupational Safety and Health Administration, the committee will continue its role in advising the Industrial Commission on occupational standards, White said.

Labor Representatives

The representative of labor is George Becker, coordinator of safety and health, United Steelworkers of America District 24, Granite City. He is joined by Robert McCarthy and Irving M. Greedfield, both special councils of the Illinois State AFL-CIO.

Chicago, Acey J. Clark, business representative, Pipefitters Local 597, Chicago, and Sam Johnson, president, Illinois State AFL-CIO.

Those from management include John Appel, Commonwealth Edison Co., Chicago; Edwin L. Albaugh, International Harvester Co., Chicago; Paul Gerdorf, Burditt and Calkins, Chicago; and William L. Stiens, Borg-Warner Corp., Chicago.

Public members are Ray Ketchmark, safety officer, University of Illinois, Chicago; Charles L. Cheever, Argonne National Laboratory, Argonne; Dr. William H. Cresswell, Jr., head of the Department of Health and Safety Education, University of Illinois, Urbana; Prof. June Snow, chairman, Department of Nursing, Baylor University, Peoria; and Dr. Theodore M. X-Ray Overuse Cited By Health Physics Prof

While everyone is concerned about the effects of pollution of the air, land and water, students in a health physics class at Southern Illinois University-Southwestern are concerned about the pollution of the human body through radiation.

The overuse of x-ray by dentists and doctors and the misuse of microwave equipment poses a real dilemma to future and present generations according to Arthur Braundmeier, assistant professor of physics.

Braundmeier said, "There are many benefits derived from the use of x-ray, but people should be sensitized to the overuse and potential dangers of overexposure."

In 1970 the American Medical Association reported two-thirds of the diagnostic x-rays prescribed by doctors are useless, and 40% of the radiation exposure of the people in this country comes from these sources.

Permed Research
Braundmeier, who held a health physics fellowship at the University of Tennessee and worked for five years at Oak Ridge National Laboratories, an atomic research center, has performed considerable research using x-ray equipment.

While at Oak Ridge he learned procedures for cleaning up contaminated personnel and protective measures. He also monitored personnel for gamma and x-ray exposure. The health physics course was first offered at SIU-SW last fall. Braundmeier said, "Most students taking the course were involved in nursing and pre-medicine. The present class includes a professional engineer."

The majority of these students will be exposed to x-ray or some form of radioactive materials, he said. "The use of radio active isotopes on x-ray to treat cancer makes doctors and nurses most susceptible to exposure. Engineers use cobalt 60 in the x-ray welds in pipelines."

Debate Levels
"Much debate surrounds the maximum levels of exposure before x-ray becomes harmful to human beings," Braundmeier said, "but people get a lot more exposure than they think, because lead shields do not stop all of the x-rays."

He tells his class they should make sure the x-ray is absolutely necessary before receiving one.

The genetic effects of x-ray exposure are not readily known, Braundmeier said, and this can create problems for pregnant mothers or anyone of reproducing age.

Microwave ovens are another subject of the class. Braundmeier says "most people do not realize the cornea of the eye is sensitive to microwaves and the development of cataracts has been traced to microwaves."

It is not uncommon to see people in food vending areas looking at food cooking in microwave ovens, but Braundmeier warns against this practice. Grills on the ovens are not totally effective in stopping the microwaves, he said.

Braundmeier said it is possible to have your hand cooked before you feel the heat, because the microwave penetrates deep into the skin where there are no nerves. The heat then comes from the inside out to where the nerves are located under the skin, he said.

There are laws governing the licensing and inspection of radiation emitting equipment in most states, but lack of funds and the shortage of trained personnel make adequate monitoring difficult, Braundmeier said.

"I don't intend for my students to interfere with the dentist or doctor's diagnosis, but I expect them to question them to see if the x-ray is absolutely necessary," Braundmeier said.

Braundmeier, a graduate of Highland High School, earned a B.S. degree from Eastern Illinois University, and M.S. and Ph.D. degrees in physics from the University of Tennessee, Knoxville.
